Digital Tech/Labor Resources & Reading List for Journalists

I've created the list because several people have contacted me over the last few months about writing "digital labor" stories or essays for popular media. Understanding that most people never take a labor history course (nor are they pursuing graduate work in labor, media, communications, history, political science, sociology, etc.), I put this list together as a starting place for interested parties. I was trying to privilege books over articles that might be hard to access, but if there is something here you can't get and you want to read, just email me.

Enjoy!

https://docs.google.com/document/d/1ZbVXp-ADMdedmzvMI5U7bXX_P1D9Zdr7ZYX009OXIx8/edit#

The document is editable. If you'd like to add a reference, please do and make sure to leave your name at the of the document under "contributors."